1,000 Pairs of Ladies' Highest-Class Footwear in a Three Days' Clearance Sale.

This will be the biggest sacrifice of Ladies' Shoes that has ever been made-and let us tell you the reason for it. A certain maker, to whom we have looked for our most popular lines, has shown a disposition to cheapen the standard for next season. We have discovered this in the samples he has submitted. That won't do for us-and we have countermanded the advance orders placed-and shall discontinue this make of Footwear. Too bad-for as delivered to us this season-there are none better-good honest values -splendid styles. That's our unstinted recommendation of the Shoes that will constitute the special sale that begins tomorrow and to which we shall allot three days-Thursday, Friday and Saturday.
The line consists of:

Black and Tan Vici Kid Button and Lace High Boots. Patent Leather Lace and Button Boots.

Black Kid Button Boots, with cloth tops. Black and Tan Vici Kid Oxfords.

Patent Leather Oxfords. Tan Glace Oxfords. They are hand-turned, hand-sewed and hand-welted; made on Opera, Bull Dog, Common Sense, Egg lasts, with patent leather tips or tips of the same material the Shoes are made of; high heels, low heels and medium heels. Of every lot we know there is not every size-but every pair of this maker's stock we have on hand

High Boots and Oxfords that have sold up to and including $3.50—are placed on special tables for your choice at-

As a positive assurance that every pair of these Shoes is all right, we remind you that the store's guarantee holds good. If you are not satisfied with your purchase the money will be refunded as cheerfully as though the full price had been paid. Mail orders for these Shoes cannot be filled.

Last Day of the Muslin Underwear Sale.

That the variety may be as good for the last day's shoppers as the first, we have thrown some garments into each lot that we did not intend to sacrifice. It's an offering that rivals the regular midseason selling-being even stronger values at lesser prices. We voice the praises you have showered upon it-praises for the neatness of the work-the elaborateness of the making and trimmingthe spic, spandy newness. It's to keep it out of the dust and dirt of moving that we decided upon clearance.

Used a Revolver-Was Well Known in een in the hotel business in this city, committed suicide yesterday afternoon at the nome of his sister, Mrs. Isabella Crandall, No. 908 Virginia avenue southwest. The deed was committed with a 32-caliber revolver, the bullet entering his left temple. in the hospital ambulance, in hopes of saving his life by prompt treatment, but the bullet had made a wound that was necessarily fatal. The piece of lead had penetrated the brain and in a few minutes after reaching the hospital death claimed the unfortunate man. Business reverses and the loss of his wife had made the popular hotel man despondent during recent months, and some people who knew him best feared that he would end his earthly trouble in this way. Since the death of his wife he has lived with his children at the home of his sister. At times he was very much depressed in spirits because of his gloomy financial outlook and at other times his renewed hopes made him appear as he was during his more prosperous days. It was shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon when he returned to his home. His sister was attending to her household duties downstairs when he entered the house, and, as she supposed, went to his room. He had been there only a few minutes when his sister was startled by hearing the report of a pistol. She could hardly realize that the shot had been fired in her house, but she thought she would investigate and satisfy this way. Since the death of his wife he shot had been fired in her house, but she thought she would investigate and satisfy herself about it. Going upstairs she noticed smoke coming from the door of her room, and reaching the door she saw her brother's prostrate form stretched upon her bed. Beside him lay the smoking revolver. Blood was spurting from a hole in his left temple. Fully realizing that the wound was a serious one, the sister's only hope was that there was still signs of life in the was a serious one, the sister's only hope was that there was still signs of life in the body, although the wounded man was unconscious and could not respond when she called to him. Dr. Perkins was hastily summoned, and he saw at a glance that a fatal wound had been inflicted.

There was nothing that could be done for the patient. He was not aware of physical pain and he had but a few hours to live at the most. In order that everything possible might be done the hospital ambulance was summoned, and, as already stated, he was taken to the Emergency Hospital where he soon died. The skin Hospital, where he soon died. The skin and hair about the wound were scorched, and the condition of the skin showed that the weapon had been pressed against his head. Coroner Carr called at the hospital soon after death claimed the patient, and gave a certificate of death from a self-inflicted wound. An undertaker then removed the body from the hospital. Active Career.

The deceased, who was forty-one years old, was a native of Washington, and had lived here all his life. He was connected with the Ebbitt House as clerk for many years, then as one of its proprietors and later becoming proprietor of Wormley's Hotel. He met many of the most prominent men in the country and made a host of friends. He was also well known in sporting circles, and many are left to mourn his loss. When he was quite a young man he entered the office of Starkweather & Ploughman, architects, and afterward worked at this business. When he found business a little dull he accepted a position as cierk in the cigar store of W. E. Chandlee, in the Ebbitt House. From the store he entered the Ebbitt House as a clerk He succeeded Mr. R. W. Frazier as store he entered the Ebbitt House as a clerk. He succeeded Mr. B. W. Frazier as cashier of the hotel, and his excellent service and his knowledge of hotel affairs won for him the confidence of his employer. Later he became one of the proprietors of the hotel. Desiring to enter business alone he withdrew from the partnersnip with Mr. Burch and invested his money in the Hotel Wormley. This venture proved a failure Wormley. This venture proved a failure, and Mr. Gibbs left the business financially ruined. Since then Mr. Gibbs has been in several minor business enterprises, but the work of regaining what he had lost was not an easy task. Four years ago his wife died, leaving him with three daughters. He was well known in business and fra-ternal society circles. At the time of his death he was a member of Almas Temple of the Mystic Shrine and also of Lebanon Lodge, No. 7, F. A. A. M. He was also prominently identified with the Ancient Order of United Workmen. Many members of the different societies with which he was connected called at the hospital yesterday afternoon, as well as at the late home of the deceased, and tendered their Funeral Arrangements. Dr. J. E. Walsh, representing Lebanon Lodge, has charge of the funeral arrangements, which he completed this afternoon. The funeral will take place Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the late home of the deceased. It is likely that the pastor of deceased. It is likely that the pastor of Grace M. E. Church will officiate. The services at the house will be in charge of Columbia Commandery, while at the cemetery Lebanon Lodge will have charge. Six pallbearers, representing the different lodges with which the deceased was connected, will be selected. The body will be buried in the family lot in Glenwood cemetery. A brother of the deceased, who lives in Boston, has been notified of his death and he will come on to attend the funeral.

NO CHANGE IN STRIKE.

Electrical Workers Are Still Confident of Winning Their Fight. The members of Local Union No. 26, National Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, who have been on strike since Monday morning, held another largely attended meeting today. The various committees reported that the indications were that the men would be successful in their demands. Several new members were admitted, much enthusiasm was manifested and the determination was expressed to force the signing of the agreement by the contractors or else keep up the strike. It was stated that in some instances where work has to be finished in the near future contractors are working as journeymen.

The contractors are equally as determined in the stand they have taken as are the strikers, so that the situation remains practically unchanged.

LAID TO REST.

Last Rites Over the Remains of Col. A. T. Britton. Funeral services over the remains of the late Col. A. T. Britton were held yesterday afternoon at the family residence, 1220 Connecticut avenue. The spacious house was thronged with friends and acquaintances who had come to pay the last tribute of respect and esteem to one who held a prominent place in the community and whose part in life had been an honorable one. The casket containing the remains rested in the parlor surrounded by beautiful flowers, which had been sent by friends.

A lifelike painting of Col. Britton hung from the wall, and it seemed that he was looking upon the scene. The large chair looking upon the scene. The large chair which he was accustomed to occupy and which was wreathed in flowers stood as another reminder of the dead. The services were begun by the reading of selections from the Scriptures by Rev. Wallace Radcliffe, pastor of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, which was followed by prayer. A male quartet composed of employes of the American Security and Trust Company sang the hymn "Abide With Me" ompany sang the hymn "Abide With Me. Col. Britton had frequently listened with pleasure to the voices of these young men, and on account of the interest which he and on account of the interest which he had always taken in them they were asked to sing at the funeral. Both the selection named above and a subsequent one, "Asleep in the Arms of Jesus," were sung with feeling. The members of the quartet were Geo. Cooper, Daniel Duncan, Albert Leet and H. S. Reeside.

and H. S. Keeside.

Bishop Satterlee read the service of the Episcopal Church, which was concluded at the grave in Oak Hill cemetery. The casket was conveyed to the hearse by the active pallbearers preceded by the honorary pallbearers. Those who officiated in this capacity were: Honorary-Charles J. Bell, Myron M. Parker, John B. THE CITY'S HEALTH.

Summer Complaints Increase the Mortality for the Week. There occurred in the District of Columbia during the week ending July 8, 1899, 153 deaths. Of those who died 62 were white and 71 colored. The annual death rate for the entire population was, therefore, 28.38 per 1,000; that for the white population was 22.27 and that for the colored 41.59. The corresponding death rates during the preceding week were 19.11 for the entire population-14.66 for the white and 28.70 for the colored. The large increase is attributable almost entirely to the sudden rise in the mortality of children less than one year old, marking the advent of the usual summer diarrhoeas of children. Of the entire number of decedents 60 died from diseases of the gastro-intestinal system, and of this number 47 were under one year of age. From diseases of the brain and nervous sys.

From diseases of the brain and nervous system there were 19 deaths; 7 of these were from apoplexy and 1 from cerebro-spinal meningitis. There were 2 fatal cases of diphtheria, 1 of typhoid fever, 1 of whooping cough and 1 of measles.

At the close of the preceding report there were 16 cases of diphtheria in quarantine. During the week 5 cases were reported and 7 were discharged, leaving 14 cases under treatment in 11 premises. Of scarlet fever there were 35 cases in quarantine. Three were, therefore, at the close of the week 20 cases under treatment in 15 premises.

The last two cases of smallpox were discharged from the hospital on the 8th instant. The District is, therefore, free from that disease for the first time since January 20.
